

REPRINTS NRx

For Bulk Article Reprint Procurement

Your Prescription for Increased Product Sales

Reprints NRx is the procurement service from Reprints Desk® that makes it easy for healthcare and healthcare communications companies to efficiently manage global article reprints spending and effectively utilize scientific journal articles to increase product prescriptions and sales. Buyers benefit from the ability to forecast reprint spending and easily use bulk article reprints and eprints in promotions and educational programs – online, offline, and mobile.

Go From First Base to Engaged with Reprints Desk

Getting inside the physician's office or getting a prospect to visit your website is the first step in building a customer relationship. That relationship will grow if you're recognized as a source of trusted information.

Get further with your prospects and customers by engaging them with the science behind your products. Peer reviewed articles from scientific and medical journals are the best way to communicate the science. Reprints Desk can help, proving you with top quality professional reprints and licensed PDFs (for email or edetailing) of almost any peer-reviewed article.
